(Continued From First Page) On the whole, the United States could had a billion dollars worth of value in ome of these islands without much some of these selands without much trouble, and get it back in commodities in a short time.

But, were it not for the principle enunciated by the distinguished father— th-law of Mr McAdoo, namely the principle of self-determination it would be principle of self-determination at would be easy to get the proposition golf for it is said that the British ner ment is not a bit adverse to discussi of the matter.

of the matter.

What, for instance, would be the opinion of peoples in the Bermuds, Eachamas and so on, about being annexel to dry' land? Seriously speaking, there has been an appexation movement in some of these British islands for some time. They have wanted to be annexed to the United States for various reasons, mostly commercial advantages growing out of geographical proximity. But the advantages of prohibition have not yet taken head on the British imagination. Perhaps the islands could be gotten residy for annexation only after some of the Antisalcen league's agents had been able to sow the seed which was so effective inside the United States.

had been able to sow the seed which was so effective inside the United States.

Mr. McAdeo, however, sees the question purely as to its bearing on financial relations between the British empire and the United States. Says McAdeo:

"It is highly desirable, both on our own account and that of our allies, that the settlement of our loans to our allies be rendered as quick and as easy as possible.

"Gur chief debtor is, of course, Great Britain, and this arises naturally out of the fact that Great Britain has liberally pledged her credit to sustain that of the fact that Great Britain has liberally pledged her credit to sustain that of her ailles.

"Now, for the past 100 years, Great Britain has held certain islands in and near our shores, Jamaica the Bahamas, Barbadoes, Nassau, British Honduras and the Bermudas, off our South Atlantic coast.

"These British possession, so long as held by a friendly maritime power, do not jeopardize the security of the Atlantic and guif coast of the United States. With the process of time, we have now become the leading economic power in the world, and have developed the Fanama canal and a navy and merchant marine which make these islands more than ever important to us.

"Might it not be possible to work out a plan by which England's debt to us could be reduced by the transfer of certain British possessions in the western hamisphers to the extent of their value." The British empire at this moment comprises one sixth of the land area of the whole world, and, according to British economic exports, the surplus capital of the mother country will for many years to come be expended in the development of the agricultural and mineral resources of the great self-governing dominions and of India.

"I magine that Great Britain would not object to such a disposition of these islands, especially as they would go to a friendly power. I see nothing in such a proposal to offend the just pride of a great people, whereas such a liquidation of a portion of the British debt might be a happy solution of a part of Great Britain's immediate financial problem."

Inquiry among British correspondents in the national capital leads to the con-clusion that the matter would not be unfavorably received in Great Britain, were it not for the fact that British policy is for the present inseparably interwoven with what happens to the league of nations and proposals for naval disarmanent.

If the league is dead and Europe goes

Some valuable mayai bases are ecaltared in the morth and south Allenia, which Great Britain would be loath to give up. Yet, if international disartmament is to be put into effect through the league of nations, Great Britain would have as little use he naval atahome as she would for more hardeships.
And the tendency of American mayai men is reflected in the statements jget minde by Bear Admiral Badger, and concurred in by other members of the genesal naval board, in the effect that the United States should have the largest

It is hard to say whether this is a

DECLARES ENGINEER IN PRAISING PEPGEN

W. L. Coley, Locomotive Engineer on Union Railroad, Happy Over Improvement Brought by New Remedy. Rids Him of Acute Indigestion in Short Order, He Says

"Pepgen has done me a million dolare' worth of good." is the enthusiastic declaration of W. L. Coley, 706 Roland street. Memphis.

Mr. Coley is a locomotive engineer on. he Union railroad and while he has no personal knowledge of how it feels to be the possessor of a million dollars, he does know the difference between between being in good health and bad health. And he can't imagine that a man could be happier over getting a million dollars than a sick man over getting good health.

In other words, Mr. Coley puts health-wealth shead of financialwealth and he is right. Health and happiness go together. Wealth withhappiness no together. Wealth without health is unhappiness. There are a lot of millionaires who would gladly pay a million dollars if it were possible to trade stomachs with some poor man blessed with good health. Of course, these wealthy men could have had health as well as wealth if they had taken precautions in time, but they negleased everything else in their pursuit of riches until it was too late.

All of us can't acquire riches, but we can all enjoy the happiness of health simply by taking proper steps in time.

Acute Indigestion,

Getting back to Mr. Coley's experience, he says:

"I was a sufferer with a severe case of stomach trouble. For a period of about eight months I had been having frequent attacks of acute indigestion.

"Gas formed in my stomach after every meal. I couldn't eat apples or any fruits or foods containing acids without having painful cramps. I kept on getting worse until I didn't have any appetite worth mentioning.

"I so I Pensen after reading about it."

Mrs. E. C. Pope, of 250 North Sev-

"I got Pepgen after reading about it in the Memphis papers. I want to say that I have not had an strack of indigestion since I began taking Pepgen. I eat apples, fruits and acid foods—in fact anything I want now, and gas does not form. does not form.

"There isn't a thing I can say too good for this medicine. "Pepgen has done me a million dol-lars' worth of good."

Pepgen, the great reconstructive tonic and health food, is designed to overcome ills that lower human vitality. It alds digestion, purifies and strengthens the blood and gives the nervous system tone. It is designed to combat catarrhal affections, kidney and liver ills and all disorders of the discretive trust. Get it at the Weiss Pharmacy, Union and Main streets, Memphis, or from any other retail or wholesale drug store.

was pale.

"Her kidneys acted too freely at night and the poor child was not able to control them." Any mother whose child is affilicted in this way knows what experiences I went through.

"Pepgen began helping her from the very first dose she took. I noticed the effect on her kidneys at once. Their action has become normal and healthy. Her appetite has increased and her color is good. She runs and plays now as if she never saw a sick day.

"I am so grateful about this. She "Pepgen helped her after I had tried hundreds of other things, all of which failed. I want to recommend it for other mothers."

For run-down, weak and nervous men, women and children in need of better health, more strength, keener appetite, surer digestion, a revitalizing of the rervous system, Pepgen is the tonic surpreme. It has a delicate, appetizing flavor.
